BIG DATA SCIENTIST / BIG DATA ENGINEER (F/M/D)

Full-time // Berlin, Leipzig, Hamburg, Gütersloh, Germany // smartclip Europe GmbH
Job-ID: 44460

Job duties
• In cooperation with other business areas, you develop analyses and potentially new use cases that can be derived from the available data and machine learning.
• At best, a proof-of-concept or prototype is created from the knowledge gained. This includes green meadow projects, as well as the expansion of existing infrastructure with new features.
• Design and deployment of sophisticated analysis components.
• Definition of performance indicators (KPIs) and evaluation procedures to measure the performance of existing products.
• Working with international teams to enable the availability and launch of new products and technical skills
• Use and further development of machine learning methods

Job requirements
• Apache Spark
• Good programming skills in at least one of the following languages: Python, Java, Scala, R
• Knowledge of databases, database concepts, database design and query languages SQL, NoSQL.
• Many years of experience in dealing with and processing large structured and semi-structured amounts of data. „Know your tools.”
• Basic knowledge in the field of Kubernetes (Docker), DevOps, GNU / Linux, shell scripting
• Experience with the Apache Hadoop ecosystem is desirable
• A high standard of care and quality, as well as solution-oriented thinking in complex situations
• The willingness to learn new technologies and analytical methods
• Curiosity, patience, openness and tolerance. Help team members grow. Share your experiences and knowledge and learn from others’ experiences.