DEVELOPER (M/F/D) WITH A FOCUS ON DATA ENGINEERING

Job duties
• You develop and maintain front and backend applications with a focus on smart data / (big) data applications
• You will continue to develop our existing libraries and in-house frameworks
• You continuously integrate and optimize the existing data infrastructure
• You technologically implement marketing products in direct sparring with product owners and project managers

Job requirements
• You have a methodical and conscientious approach to dealing with Javascript, HTML5, CSS, PHP and Java
• You have (first) experience working with Python / R, (big) data applications and scalable infrastructures
• In the best case, you bring your first knowledge of Android or iOS development
• You have successfully completed your degree in computer science, mathematics, physics or a comparable discipline